PDQ IN MOTION: GROWTH, SERVICE & COMMUNITY

October / November 2026 | Published by PDQ Delivery LLC

FROM PDQ

A Newsletter About the Work PDQ Is Doing

This issue centers on PDQ Delivery LLC - our people, our growth, our community involvement, and the opportunities we are helping create. We want each edition to feel like a true record of the company: where we showed up, who we connected with, how our fleet is growing, and how our transportation services support better access to care and community life.

What this issue highlights

- Senior Expo participation and direct community connection
- Health awareness and support for non-emergency medical transportation needs
- PDQ fleet expansion and increased transportation capacity
- Service, leadership, job opportunity, and self-awareness themes
- Noon Exchange Club involvement and the Veterans Appreciation Car Show
- A stronger editorial promise focused on safe rides and better opportunities

EDITORIAL PROMISE

PDQ will use this newsletter to share real company activity, real event participation, real fleet growth, and useful rider information. Community news will be included when it connects directly to PDQ, our riders, our partners, or our mission to provide safe and dependable transportation.

Our promise: safe rides, stronger connections, better opportunities.

PDQ is committed to helping riders reach healthcare, community events, resources, and opportunities with dignity, reliability, and professional service.

COMMUNITY CONNECTION: SENIOR EXPO & HEALTH AWARENESS

SENIOR EXPO

Meeting People, Listening, and Sharing Resources

PDQ participated in the Senior Expo to connect directly with seniors, caregivers, families, and community organizations. The goal was not simply to promote transportation. It was to listen, answer questions, explain how non-emergency medical transportation can support healthcare access, and help people better understand the services available to them.

Events like this help PDQ build trust in person. They also give riders an opportunity to learn more about scheduling, mobility needs, recurring healthcare trips, and the importance of planning transportation before an appointment becomes urgent.

Health Awareness & Access

PDQ connects transportation access with health awareness, community education, and stronger relationships with local organizations.

WHY IT MATTERS

Senior-focused events create a place for honest conversation about health needs, mobility, independence, and transportation barriers. PDQ can use these conversations to improve service and make riders feel more informed before they book.

PDQ TAKEAWAY

A good transportation company does more than move people. It helps connect them with care, resources, information, and community support.

ANDERSON COMMUNITY

Sharing, Serving, Learning, and Growing Together

PDQ wants community involvement to create more than visibility. We want people to leave events with useful information, stronger connections, and a better understanding of what resources and opportunities are available. That can include transportation help, health education, leadership development, service opportunities, and pathways to employment.

Helping riders become stronger self-advocates

- Ask questions about health needs and transportation requirements
- Plan ahead for appointments, follow-up visits, and recurring care
- Learn how to communicate clearly with providers and transportation staff
- Build confidence in making choices that support personal wellness

Opening doors to service and opportunity

- Community service and volunteer opportunities
- Leadership development and stronger civic participation
- Employment and job opportunities when available
- Connections with organizations that support health and stability

PDQ's community role goes beyond transportation.

Safe rides can be the bridge between a person and a medical appointment, a community event, a job opportunity, a support organization, or a chance to become more informed about their own health and future.

PDQ GROWTH: EXPANDING THE FLEET

October / November 2026 | Published by PDQ Delivery LLC

COMPANY GROWTH

More Capacity to Serve Riders Across Indiana

PDQ continues to invest in transportation capacity. Fleet expansion supports more scheduling flexibility, helps reduce conflicts when multiple rides overlap, and gives the company more options for serving different rider and facility needs. Growth should always support reliability - not simply increase volume.

What fleet growth can improve

- Scheduling flexibility during busy periods
- Capacity for recurring healthcare transportation
- Coverage when a vehicle is unavailable for maintenance
- Ability to support more facility and private-pay relationships
- Better matching of vehicle capability to rider needs

What PDQ will continue to prioritize

- Vehicle cleanliness and readiness
- Routine maintenance and inspection
- Professional driver accountability
- Safe, respectful rider experience
- Growth that remains operationally sustainable

Growth should make the rider experience better.

Every new vehicle, process improvement, and partnership should support one goal: dependable transportation that people can trust when getting to healthcare and essential services.

NOVEMBER 7, 2026

Veterans Appreciation Car Show

PDQ Delivery LLC is a member of the Noon Exchange Club of Anderson and is helping support the Veterans Appreciation Car Show, including sponsor outreach. The event is scheduled for Saturday, November 7, from 10:00 AM to 2:00 PM on Meridian Street in downtown Anderson.

The event flyer highlights free meals for veterans at selected downtown restaurants and states that the event benefits efforts to house homeless veterans through Tunnel to Towers.

Why PDQ is involved

- Support veterans and local service organizations
- Strengthen community partnerships
- Help connect sponsors with a meaningful local event
- Show that PDQ is invested in Anderson beyond transportation

SPONSORSHIP & PARTNERSHIP

PDQ can use future newsletter space to recognize participating sponsors, thank community partners, and share photos from the event. This turns each issue into a record of partnership and impact - not just an announcement sheet.

LOOKING AHEAD: SAFE RIDES, HEALTH, OPPORTUNITY & CIVIC VOICE

October / November 2026 | Published by PDQ Delivery LLC

EDITORIAL PROMISE

What PDQ Will Keep Bringing to Readers

PDQ's newsletter will focus on information that helps people move forward. That includes safer transportation, better understanding of healthcare and mobility needs, community service, employment opportunities, local partnerships, and ways for riders to become stronger advocates for themselves and their families.

SAFE RIDES

Professional transportation, clear communication, and dependable access to appointments and essential services.

BETTER OPPORTUNITIES

Connections to community resources, service, leadership, employment, and partnership opportunities.

HEALTH AWARENESS

Useful reminders that encourage riders to understand their needs, ask questions, and plan ahead for care.

NEXT ISSUE GOAL

Encouraging Anderson to Be Informed and Vote

The next issue will include a nonpartisan civic participation feature encouraging eligible community members to register, learn where and how to vote, review official election information, and make their own informed choices. PDQ will not tell readers who to support. The goal is to encourage participation, self-awareness, and an informed community voice.
